

This is Radt. For the past 2 years, she has been faithfully serving as Tim's Thai Administrative Assistant in the National Office; and just recently received her University diploma. Radt has been a huge blessing both in the office and to our family through her heart, personality, and gifts. Unfortunately, she is leaving us; but for very positive reasons. Even when she first came to work with us, Radt shared that she had a vision to return to her hometown in southern Thailand to begin a YWAM ministry and presence there. Over the past few months, God has confirmed that the time has come for her to pursue that vision. This month, Radt will be returning to Krabi Province to reunite with her family; and begin establishing a base there. We are proud of her, and do request your prayers and blessings on her behalf. Following is a picture Radt with her Mom:

Our family is in the middle of a stretch of visitors from the U.S. It's been exciting, encouraging, and fun to visit with family and friends who have either been passing through Thailand or come specifically to see us. We're glad to report that everyone is doing well, and the baby continues to grow well. Ethan even found time to ride his first elephant which was a very exciting experience for him.

In just a few days, he will celebrate his 4th birthday as part of his exciting month.

Our plans to travel to Scotland for the LDC are coming together well. We have purchased our tickets, and are looking forward to an April 20th departure. Unfortunately, we will still be in Thailand for Songkran (The nationwide “water fight” festival) which takes place every year. ☹️ 😊 ☹️

A Special Request for our UK Friends

For those of you living in the UK, we have two requests, please. One, we would love to be able to visit with you during our time in Scotland from April 22nd-June 6th. Unfortunately, we won't have much time available to travel due to school commitments; but if you are passing by Seamill in Scotland, we'd love to see you.

The second request is that we will be taking a few days following the completion of the LDC to apply for a new one-year visa to Thailand. Hopefully, we will be able to do this at the Thai Consulate in Glasgow. Unfortunately, we are being “kicked off” the YWAM Base following the completion of the course on June 2nd, and will need a place to stay from June 2nd-6th. Does anyone have connections who would be able to offer us free or reduced-cost housing in the Glasgow area for a few days? Thanks for your consideration!
