

Hi prayer partners,

Thanks for your prayers & emails of encouragement this week. Dave and I were really blessed to know how many people were praying after his allergic reaction, we really appreciate hearing from you! We just wanted to let you know that he is doing great and that things went really well at Ferris on Tuesday night. There were around 50 students who attended, a great turnout for the first meeting & for the ice cream social afterwards. Josh gave Dave's talk & though he was nervous, students affirmed him & said he did great. It was a great opportunity for Jesus to shine, the Holy Spirit to give boldness & for students to demonstrate great leadership. Praise God for your answered prayers.

On Thursday Dave spent time with student leaders doing an outreach table outdoors on the quad at Ferris asking students to write on a large board who they believed Jesus to be. They were able to get into some great spiritual conversations with students many who saw the InterVarsity sign and exclaimed "Christian fellowship! I've been looking all over campus for something like this and I haven't seen anything!" Other than getting extremely sunburned (see attached picture :) and feeling a little hazy due to the benadryl the doctor prescribed for the rest of the week, Dave felt pretty good physically and about what God is doing on campus. Please pray for the follow up that students will be doing in the next week with students who expressed interest in small group Bible studies and learning more about who Jesus is.

Grateful for your prayers and partnership,

Jessica & Dave
