

Greetings!

I trust you are all well, and leaning on the Lord. Troy and I have been learning to lean on the Lord a lot the past month. Not only with adjusting to life with a new baby, but also in what seems like MANY areas of life. Our prayer requests/updates are as follows:

1. Thank the Lord for Yazzie. He is so precious, healthy, and well behaved (for a newbie!)
2. Thank the Lord that Troy was able to go a conference on HIV/AIDS and the churches response at CCTB (the college he will be teaching at). The response from the students was positive. HIV/AIDS is a big problem here though people with the disease are all too often stigmatized and alienated. What a blessing for the church to respond in love and truth to this issue! (Part of the reason AIDS is a problem here is from lack of education. One of the students was certain that he heard a family got AIDS from eating pineapple...)
3. Please pray: For our health. I (faith) have been very sick off and on for one month with intestinal illnesses. There are many 'bugs' to get used to, but being chronically sick is very trying on the family and my body. Pray for spiritual protection
4. Also pray for continued language learning. I was hoping to get back into language class already, but am too ill to continue right now. Pray that I would have energy for this. Troy is back in class and making good progress. He needs encouragement, though. It is very easy to get the feeling you are trying to run underwater... it is slow, hard work.

We pray for you, also. That you would be strengthened in your faith and drawn closer to Jesus, whom we serve together. Blessings to you all, Faith, Troy, Yazzie
